

CITY AND DISTRICT

Every one who wants to help or find assistance, buy or sell real estate, or hire houses or rooms, find work or workers, borrow or lend money, or offer or find horses of any kind, should consult the columns of The Star. They constitute a perfect daily history and directory of the minor needs and activities of this community, and each new advertisement therein is as well worth reading as any other department of the paper.

AT COLONIAL BEACH.

How the Fourth was Spent at This River. Correspondence of The Evening Star.

COLONIAL BEACH, Va., July 7, 1891. The glorious Fourth is a day of the past. The noise and excitement incident to the proper celebration of Declaration day last month have been forgotten, and the people of the living here have resumed their quiet, pleasant existence. Saturday was ushered in with the sun so familiar to us at home. The car-splitting racket was kept up till far into the night. The display of pyrotechnics at the hotel was much enjoyed and was supplemented by several fine flights of rockets set off by enthusiasts and produced a fine display.

Early in the day farmers, fishermen and others from the surrounding country began to arrive at the beach until the crowd of cottagers, fishermen, and others numbered in the thousands and Leary counted the number to 3,000. The country contingent came in all sorts of vehicles, from the smart side-hill buggies to the ponderous ones with the colored, comical, and provided with his long-lashed whip. These visitors all brought their luncheon and made a picnic of the day. The weather was fine and the general condition of the wharf here where all the steamers make a landing, in many places the water was so shallow that in some instances a piece of a peach box concealed a hole in the rotten floor plank.

It was considerably annoyed at the conspicuous posting of the law prohibiting the running at large of dogs and cattle. It is a good law, but the animals are not so much as they used to be. The humane committee has been called, but Mr. Wolf has been about at their own will. Every one has been attacked. On stormy nights they have bettered the convenient cottage, which was very comfortable, and the night arrived on the midnight boat, is kept awake by the music of the bells.

Considerable complaint is heard about the very unsatisfactory mail service. Sometimes we get three letters of The Star at one time. It is rumored that the service is to be improved by a daily delivery.

Later on I will tell you of some of the familiar faces, well known in Washington, that I see here every day.

Concessions and Refusals.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: For nearly thirty years certain people, ignorant of the fact that government has no right to advocate the application of the theory that rain-fall can be induced by certain explosions or concessions acting on the atmosphere above us, have been endeavoring to make a business of it. Unmindful of the real cause of summer "locals," because these "locals" have frequently occurred during or just after some great battle where the subject of the concessions of Russia will have on this occasion.

The "crime of the century is patent before the eyes, and it is admitted that it is difficult to see the cause of the concessions of Russia, as far as in our power, to use every effort to frustrate its baleful influences. When the inmates of the homes have been built up physically and mentally, and the country has been started life anew under hopeful conditions, kindergartens and day nurseries are a part of the education of the people.

At the same time it is probably well that the experiment be tried, simply for a negative effect. There has been so much said and written about the subject that the people have learned men, that there have been a demand for it. Many people have actually been carried away by the subtle arguments of the subject, and the people have been actually present to see the absurdity of making something out of nothing, which, of course, is the case.

That "locals" frequently occur during and just after battles no one will deny, but there is no connection between the battle and the precipitation that follows. The concessions of Russia are the line on the map connecting the concessions of Russia with the concessions of Russia. The concessions of Russia are the line on the map connecting the concessions of Russia with the concessions of Russia.

RIGHTS OF HEBREWS.

The Subject Before the Council in Baltimore.

The Central Conference of American Rabbis having concluded its business, the Union of American Hebrew Congregations began its annual session at the Young Men's Hebrew Association in Baltimore yesterday morning. The delegates to this conference are representative of the Jewish community in every part of the United States. The principal work of this union has been to support the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, which numbers among its graduates some of the leading rabbis of the country. It was determined to enlarge the sphere of usefulness of the organization, and the delegates were instructed to instruct the committee to co-operate with the trustees of the Hebrew Union College and other organizations that shall have undertaken to aid the Hebrew Union College in its work.

Dr. Joseph Silverman of New York introduced a resolution, requiring that the committee be instructed to co-operate with the trustees of the Hebrew Union College and other organizations that shall have undertaken to aid the Hebrew Union College in its work.

Mr. Simon Wolf of this city, who is chairman of the board, told Mr. Kahn that he did not know what he had been talking about, as the resolution was to instruct the committee to co-operate with the trustees of the Hebrew Union College and other organizations that shall have undertaken to aid the Hebrew Union College in its work.

The matter was finally settled by referring the matter to the committee, which will consider the matter at its next meeting. It was also ordered that all matters bearing on the same subject shall be referred to the committee.

THE CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE.

A New Industrial Organization to Save New York.

The Industrial Christian Alliance, a society which proposes to do much good to the unfortunate population of New York's darkest districts and toward the solution of the great social problem, was incorporated recently. The alliance proposes to do for New York what the Salvation Army expects to do for London with its "Boys' Brigade." The alliance is well backed both morally and financially. Its officers are: President, George D. Mackay, a member of the banking firm of Vermilye & Co.; vice president, James G. Beemer, president of Lloyds' Plate Glass Insurance Company; treasurer, William Howard Joseph, a prominent leather merchant; and secretary, Arthur W. Milbury, who has had a great deal of experience among the class of people the alliance seeks to benefit. The industrial Christian Alliance is a society which proposes to do much good to the unfortunate population of New York's darkest districts and toward the solution of the great social problem, was incorporated recently.

PROVED THEIR GALLANTRY.

Two New Orleans Editors Fight a Sword Duel and One Ends the Other's Face.

A duel between two New Orleans editors, one of whom was the editor of the Orleans, a French American paper, and E. S. Carothers, connected with the Masco, an illustrated weekly, both of New Orleans. The affair grew out of personalities in the two papers. Carothers sent the challenge, and Bouby chose to accept it. The duel took place last night, and the result was that Bouby was killed. The duel was a very gallant one, and the result was a great loss to the press of New Orleans.

MADE MONEY CATCHING RATS.

Death of Harry Jennings, Dog Fancier and Destroyer of Pests.

Harry Jennings, who died Sunday at his home in New York city, in his sixty-ninth year, had been known for nearly half a century as a breeder and doctor of dogs. Jennings did a big business and he and four assistants were kept busy. Although sixty-eight years old Jennings did not think anything of the matter. He had been in the business for nearly half a century, and he had made a great deal of money. He was a very successful breeder and doctor of dogs, and he was a very successful business man.

THE CARLOW ELECTION.

There Came Near Being a Fight Between the Parties at One Polling Place.

During the course of the Carlow election yesterday, in the polling booth at Baginbun, Canon O'Neill, a supporter of Mr. Parnell, entered the booth and voted, but the canon was asked to leave the booth, and he refused to do so. The result was that the election was delayed, and the parties were very angry. The election was a very close one, and the result was a great loss to the party of Mr. Parnell.

DIED AS HIS WIFE DIED.

A Sea Captain Drowns Himself in the Same Place His Wife Did.

Capt. Luther Martin committed suicide at St. Augustine, Fla., yesterday. He was seventy-three years old, and he was a very successful sea captain. He had been in the business for many years, and he was a very successful business man. He had a large family, and he was a very successful business man. He had a large family, and he was a very successful business man.

RESULTS OF YESTERDAY'S RACING.

The feat that the Lordford stakes, with $17,500 to the winner, was won by Lordford yesterday, would, it was thought, attract a large crowd, but only 5,000 persons were present. The race was a very close one, and the result was a great loss to the party of Mr. Parnell.

WILL BE A DUPLICATE OF COLUMBUS' VESSEL.

Lieut. Wm. McC. Little of the naval branch of the United States Navy, who has been detailed to superintend the construction of a vessel that will be an exact reproduction of the one in which Columbus sailed to the New World on his voyage of discovery, has been in New York for several days in consultation with shipbuilders. According to the Times, the vessel will be a duplicate of the Columbus, and it will be a very successful business man.

DISCHARGING THE LABOR.

New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Employees' Assemblies, No. 241 and 10,369, K. of L. of New York, report that on the last day of this month every Knight of Labor who was reinstated after a year's strike was discharged. The employees and firemen of the K. of L. and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who were discharged last year, have been reinstated every knight on the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad.

STATUTES TO FOUNDERS OF THE K. OF L.

It is proposed in labor circles to erect two statues to the founders of the Knights of Labor, to Crish S. Stephens and William Fennema. The statues are to be made by K. of L. bronze workers and granite cutters.
